IMPEACHMENT.

VOTE ON THE 11TH ARTICLE

The Adjournment!

AN INTERESTING ACCOUNT

WASHINGTON, 16th.

Excitement here this morning reached its highest pitch.

At a very early hour swarms of people began wending their way to the Capitol, and as early as ten o'clock an immense crowd had assembled in the rotunda and about the entrance of the Senate Chamber.

No person was allowed to pass the rotunda without a ticket. These were again examined twice by the doorkeepers before the holder was able to get into the gallery.

Police in large numbers were distributed through the galleries, armed with clubs, to preserve order.

On the floor of the Senate Chamber lively scenes were presented just before the Senate was called to order.

Groups of Senators and Representatives stood around here and there, canvassing and discussing the work of the day.

At half-past eleven o'clock Mr. Wade called the Senate to order. Then there was half an hour of painful suspense.

At twelve o'clock Chief-Justice Chase brought down his gavel and called the Court to order.

As the hour for voting on the article approached, anxiety could be seen pictured on the faces of spectators.

The first business in order was the consideration of the order to take the vote on the 11th article first.

On this Hendricks demanded the yeas and nays which was carried.

Fessenden then demanded the yeas and nays on the adoption of the order.

The vote resulted 34 yeas to 19 nays. While this vote was being taken Senator Howard was carried in and put in his seat and wrapped up in a great shawl. He arose and asked if it would be in order to file his opinion.

The Chief-Justice said it was. Grimes came in just after the vote was taken, and created quite a sensation. He sat upon the Democratic side.

The Chief-Justice admonished the galleries in advance that perfect order must be maintained. It would be a subject of regret if he was compelled to clear the galleries.

The Chief-Justice then directed the Clerk to read the eleventh article, which he did amid profound silence.

After the reading of the article the Secretary called the roll. Anthony was first called upon. He stood up amid breathless silence and the Chief-Justice put the usual form to him and he replied "Guilty."

Then came Bayard and Bucklew, each "Not Guilty."

Sonator Cameron said "Guilty" before the Chief-Justice had time to get through with the forms.

The vote in detail is as follows: GUILTY.—Anthony, Cameron, Cat-tell, Chandler, Cole, Conklin, Conne-s, Corbett, "Cragin, Drake, Howe, Mor-gan, Morrill (Me.), Morrill, (Vt.), Mor-ton, Nye, Patterson of New Hampshire, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Sherman, Sprague, Stewart, Sumner, Thayer, Tipton, Wade, Willey, Williams, Wilson, Yates—35.

Not GUILTY.—Bayard, Bucklew, Davis, Dixon, Doolittle, Fessenden, Fowler, Grimes, Henderson, Hendricks, Jackson, McCreery, Norton, Patterson, (Tenn.), Ross, Salisbury, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Vickers—19.

After this vote had been taken Senator Williams moved that the Court adjourn until the 2d.

Henderson made a point that it could not adjourn pending the calling of a vote on a question, nor until the result was announced.

Judge Chase then announced that on the eleventh article the vote stood—Guilty, 35; Not Guilty, 19. On this article the President is acquitted.

The Chair declared that it was not in order to a "journal," whereupon an appeal was taken, and the yeas and nays ordered.

On the question, shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Senate, the vote stood—yeas 24, nays 30. So the Chair was not sustained.

McCreery moved that when the Court adjourns today it adjourn sine die. The yeas and nays being ordered resulted, yeas 6, nays 47—so the motion was lost.

Henderson moved that the Court adjourn until the last day of July next. The yeas and nays were demanded and stood—yeas 20, nays 34. So the Senate refused to adjourn until the 1st of July.

The vote was then taken on Mr. William's original motion to adjourn until the 26th. It was adopted by a vote of 32 to 21.

The Senate then adjourned.

—In Guatemala on the 8th of April a very sharp shock of earthquake was experienced; the shocks were repeated for days in succession, but no damage was done to the buildings.

Signed: A. A. Boyce, Clerk.
